1) My Earth overshoot date is the 23rd of April
2) One habit that I'd like to work on is eating more sustainably. One habit that I am proud of is that I carpool very frequently, reducing the amount of carbon emissions I produce.
3) One way that I could push back my personal Overshoot date is to take sustainable transportation one step further and walk or bike to school to reduce my carbon footprint.
4) At home, I can make sure that my family turns off and unplugs all electronic devices to conserve power. Maybe I can even convince them to invest in renewable energies for our house.
