Day 26: Eco Hero
GREENEST

I AM AN ECO HERO

My true passion lies in a topic we have not discussed yet in PGC. I am truly interested in pollution and the plastic accumulations in the oceans. After taking Marine Biology class last year, I have become a role model for my peers. I am secretary and treasurer for my school's Ocean Conservation Club. To further my interest and passion, I am pursuing environmental conservation in college. To help heal our planet, I will learn all that I can and contribute to local efforts like for example beach clean ups at Ocean and Baker Beach in San Francisco.

As a powerful role model I will be what I have always wanted to be: happy. I believe if you are truly happy, you can accomplish most things you set your heart to. And if you're not happy with how things are, if you work hard and try your best, then happiness will soon come. To be this ideal, happy, powerful role model, I will continue actions that I enjoy - conserving our planet. As I assume this role model, I hope to inspire little children just like Julia Butterfly Hill has inspired me. My name will be known in the environmentalist community and I will be strong leader for conservation actions. I will have happiness.
