

Sabrina Denton – PGC Challenge Day 1 – Greenest Challenge
National Geographic Project – Empathy Gap

Instagram Caption:

Knowing the value of a place to call home is a basic necessity we should all be able to enjoy, however; the sad reality is that we all do not. In a recent report done by projecthome.org, it was reported that in January 2017 553,742 people were experiencing homelessness in some capacity. This number is staggering! I would like to encourage all of my IG friends and family to take a moment to appreciate your circumstances whether you are happy with where you are or not and considered the circumstances of those who aren't as fortunate. Always remember to show compassion and understanding for your fellow man and offer up kindness, love and support whenever you can. Should you feel so incline, please consider donating to a good cause like @coalitionforhomeless to help combat homelessness so that we all can know the comforts and joys that come with having a place to call home. #empathygap #pgc2018 @natgeo @turninggreen.org

Photo Credit: Susan Mcanany Photography, Churches of Christ in Queensland

miss_independent583

miss_independent583 Knowing the value of a place to call home is a basic necessity we should all be able to enjoy, however; the sad reality is that we all do not. In a recent report done by projecthome.org, it was reported that in January 2017 553,742 people were experiencing homelessness in some capacity. This number is staggering! I would like to encourage all of my IG friends and family to take a moment to appreciate your

