

I found her e-mail address and sent her my questions:

I'll be sure to give an update on Instagram if she replies! (tagging@turninggreenorg)

Another eco- hero of mine is the actress, Emma Watson. She spreads awareness and more importantly, ACTS on suitability in her fashion choices, even in such a pressuring industry. She is also a HUGE activist for women's rights. My 3 questions for her would be:

- How do you keep yourself motivated when the unsustainable wardrobe option is easier?
- How was your experience with your collaboration with People Tree back in 2009?
- Did you have to deal with negative government intervention while trying to produce more ethical/ sustainable products?

Unfortunately, I couldn't find a medium to come in direct contact with Emma Watson but hopefully, I can meet her one day!
