video script:

Long time ago, our world was a place of astonishing beauty and balance. Before, our forests were dense, and our oceans, rich in life. Nature flourished in its fullest expression

Today, our world faces a crisis. Pollution, forest fires, and glacier melting threaten our existence

Why should we act? Because this crisis affects everyone We want to act because we love this planet, and future generations deserve a sustainable future

It's time to take action; together, we can make a difference. If we all come together in this fight we can achieve a cleaner and greener world
