My Creative Poem:

In the realm of green, I wish to take the lead,
By joining PGC, a noble, vital deed.
To learn of nature's secrets, understand the earth,
And nurture change for what it's worth.

I yearn to grasp the skills and find the way,
To make my community greener, day by day.
But beyond these streets, my dreams unfold,
To change the future of the world foretold.

Global warming, our planet's urgent plight,
Threatens every corner with its relentless might.
Droughts, floods, wildfires, and coral's fading hue,
A world in turmoil, we must fight to renew.

In New York's heart, where dreams are often found,
I see smog, beaches marred, and waters unbound.
Flooding strikes as infrastructure falters and we groan,
Inspiring me to act, to carve a future of our own.

For it's crucial to safeguard our planet's grace,
To save lives, environments, and funds in this race.
With knowledge, hope, and a united stand,
We'll protect Earth's wonders, hand in hand.
