Greenest

I consider myself a conscious person overall. I'm pretty interested in winning the climate battle and for the past years I've tried to do whatever I can to contribute to the solution. In addition, since I was little I've been in touch with my artistic side and since I can remember I've been pretty creative. This challenge was for me the mixture of two things that I'm very passionate about. For the last year I've been developing my own brand of my personal macrmé creations. Because of this, I got inspired when I found an old bucket that was about to turn into garbage and stay in a landfill for years. Instead I used it to create something that I loved for my house. I hope everyone in their homes can see in garbage what I saw today in that bucket.

Embracing the art of recycling by transforming this old bucket into a beautiful pot. Let's all do our part to give garbage a second chance at life. 🌿❤️
