

Day 9 Greenest

Artistic Rendering of "El colibrí maya" →

The Mayan Hummingbird→It is said that all creatures were made out of clay by the Gods, however when the time to make the hummingbird came, there was no more left. Instead the Gods used jade and made an arrowhead from which the little shimmering animal was born. Because of its beauty, humans wanted to capture it but the Gods were furious they would try such a thing. They made it so if they dared tried to hold the hummingbird, it would die. Leaving humans to admire the creature as it sped through the wind.
