Dear Anwar Hossain,

I am writing to you not only as a student of Madhupur Shahid Smrity Higher Secondary School, but also as a participant in PGC 2025. In Madhupur, we are seeing clear challenges from climate change: hotter days, shrinking green spaces, and growing waste and pollution problems. These issues affect the daily lives of our community and demand urgent local action.

As a BNP leader, your efforts to raise awareness about environmental protection have already set an important example, and I believe your leadership could be even more impactful by centering youth. For example, you could work with student-led groups such as our school's Environment Club or local social organizations like Proyash, who are already active in awareness and small-scale solutions.

I would be grateful for the chance to meet with you, virtually or in person, to share youth perspectives and discuss how these partnerships could help build a stronger, more sustainable Madhupur.

Respectfully,
Anas Muhammad

Dear Sir,

I am writing to you as a student of Madhupur Shahid Smrity Higher Secondary School and also a participant in PGC 2025. In Madhupur, we are facing increasing challenges such as rising heat, loss of greenery, and growing waste and pollution. These issues affect not only our schools but the entire community, and they call for stronger local action.

As the UNO of Madhupur, your leadership plays a vital role in guiding sustainable development in our area. I believe that your initiatives could be even more impactful by actively involving young people. For example, student-led groups such as our school's Environment Club or social organizations like Proyash could be valuable partners in awareness campaigns and local projects.

I would be grateful for the opportunity to meet with you, in person or virtually, to share student perspectives and discuss how youth partnership can contribute to a cleaner, greener Madhupur.

Respectfully,
Anas Muhammad

Dear Madam,

I am writing to you as a student of Madhupur Shahid Smrity Higher Secondary School and a participant in PGC 2025. In Madhupur, we are noticing growing challenges from climate change: hotter days, shrinking green spaces, and increasing pollution. These issues affect everyone in the community, especially young people, who will inherit the long-term consequences.

Your work in local administration is crucial in shaping sustainable solutions, and I believe it could be further strengthened by including youth perspectives. For example, you could collaborate with student-led groups such as our school's Environment Club or local social organizations like Proyash, who are already active in awareness and small-scale initiatives.

I would be grateful for the opportunity to meet with you, virtually or in person, to share youth insights and discuss ways to make Madhupur more environmentally resilient.

Respectfully,
Anas Muhammad

I will be sending more letters and emails to local leaders once I manage to obtain their contact information. It is a bit difficult to reach them at the moment due to the Puja holidays, but I will ensure that more of them receive the message.
