Day 5: Water

It feels strange to talk about this as someone who has been living though AND being impacted by water scarcity.

This summer our water would get cut off on random days for random number of hours. No drinking water, nothing to wash dishes with, and as an Iranian I feel the need to use water when I use the restroom otherwise, I don't feel clean, so I would have to wait for HOURS until there was a small amount of water coming in to use the restroom.

Without water life stops in so many ways. In ways you wouldn't expect. You have to make sure you store enough water just incase it gets cut off for an entire day.
